NIOS Participates in WES 2011

The National Institute of Open Schooling (NIOS) participated in the World Education Summit (WES) 2011, the world's premier event on education leadership, organised by the Centre for Science Development and Media Studies (CSDMS), Indira Gandhi National Open University (IGNOU) and Elets Technomedia Pvt. Ltd. in August 2011. The NIOS was one of the co-organisers of the event. This global event which was held at the Ashoka, New Delhi from 13th-15th July, 2011 covered all aspects of School Education, Higher Education, and Skill Development and Vocational Education, bringing together policymakers across nations for dialogues, debates and deliberations upon policies, tools and methods of learning towards Education for all. An exhibition displaying academic programmes of the 33 participating educational institutions also formed part of the summit.

As an image building measure, the NIOS showcased its products and services at the World Education Summit 2011 through an Exhibition booth. The Summit provided a single platform to cover various aspects of School Education, Higher Education, Skill development and Vocational Education from local to international level, also creating opportunities for progress, as Education Ministries across various countries participated in the Summit.

NIOS stall at the WES 2011

The NIOS organized a special session on Vocational Education; "Upscaling Vocational Education and Skill Training through Open Schooling – Trends and Challenges". Dr. K.P. Wasnik, Director (VED), NIOS, NOIDA, Ms. Neal Terry, Flexible Learning Manager, Open polytechnic, New Zealand, Mr. Albert Joseph, Executive Director, FVTRS Bangalore, Dr. Sourabh Parkash, Professor, Central Institute for Vocational Education, Bhopal and Ms. Uma Tuli, Chairperson, Amarjyoti foundation, former Chairperson, RCI made presentations in this special session.

Dr. Kuldeep Agarwal, Director (Acad.) made a presentation on Continuous and Comprehensive Evaluation (CCE).

A two page advertorial about NIOS was published in the special issue of the digital LEARNING Magazine brought out by CSDMS on this occasion.

Hinged on the participatory model, the Summit drew attention to best practices, sharing learning and knowledge, and promoting innovations in the field of education. It also assessed learning in the 21st century and debate trends in school, higher and skill education across the globe. There was also an emphasis on deliberating upon best cases and methods for creating opportunities for students with disabilities. The role of teachers in meeting learners' diverse expectations and needs was another area that was intensely addressed.

The participation of NIOS in the technical sessions, workshops, keynotes and plenary sessions as well as exhibition of an international conference like WES, 2011 is perceived as an Image Building exercise for the organization and Capacity Building measure for its officers. Such an exposure could also go a long way in building the self esteem of the participants.

MoU to further NIOS initiative to educate Minority Communities

The National Institute of Open Schooling (NIOS), an autonomous institution under MHRD, GOI and the largest open schooling system in the world has been endeavouring to promote education amongst minority communities by launching the HUNAR project, support through the SPQEM (Scheme for Providing Quality Education in Madrassas) programme of Govt. of India, organising advocacy and mass sensitization programmes in various states and developing its study material in Urdu medium. The NIOS has also been in the process of identifying more institutions for accreditation as study centres for meeting the educational needs of students belonging to Minority Communities.

Taking forward this initiative, the NIOS signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with the National Commission for Minority Educational Institutions (NCMEI), also an autonomous institution under MHRD, GOI, with the objective to expand the reach and impact of NIOS programmes and policies amongst Minority Communities, undertake active advocacy programmes by establishing linkages with Minority Educational Institutions and to create a wider network of study centres and develop a mechanism for sharing of resources.

In his introductory remarks, Dr. S.S. Jena, Chairman, NIOS pointed out the initiatives that the NIOS had undertaken not only to increase the educational level of the Muslim Minority but also providing a means of livelihood through its vocational programmes. He hoped that this MoU would help in developing a mechanism to identify more active institutions to provide access to education, thereby improving the educational profile of the Muslim Minority.

Referring to the occasion as a historic one, Justice M.S.A. Siddiqui, Chairman, NCMEI said that the signing of the MoU is a positive step to improve the educational profile of the Muslim Minority, especially empowering Muslim girls by educating them and making them self-reliant.

The MoU was signed on 21st June 2011 at the NCMEI headquarters in New Delhi. The Secretary, NIOS, Sri. C. Dharuman signed the MoU on behalf of NIOS and Sri. D.R. Bhalla, Deputy Secretary, NCMEI was the signatory to the MOU representing NCMEI.

Life Skills Workshop for Jail Inmates

The National Institute of Open Schooling (NIOS) held two Life Skills workshops for jail inmates—one in Berhampur Central Jail, Orissa on July 8, 2011, and the other in District Jail, Puri on July 13, 2011. These workshops were organized following a request put forth by the District Jail, Puri,

Learning to manage stress

keeping in mind the potential of life skills education to offer support and basic guidance to build a positive foundation of life after sentence, livelihood security, health and social recognition, and to promote personal development and strength to face the difficult challenges of life.

The workshops were held in collaboration with Interns from School of Life Skills Education and Social Harmony, Rajiv Gandhi National Institute of Youth Development, Chennai. The main themes for both workshops were stress management, HIV and AIDS and drug/substance abuse.

In both the workshop in progress locations, the participants were jail inmates who are NIOS learners. Learners from neighbouring jails collected at one place to participate in the workshop. The participants were pleased to be treated by the facilitators with empathy. Many inmates were able to shed their inhibitions and actively discuss the symptoms of HIV/AIDS which were similar to or matching those that they themselves had experienced at some point of time.

The feedback at the end of the workshops was very positive and NIOS has been invited to organize more such workshops in future. It was a learning experience for both the interns and the facilitators.

The participants were awarded certificates by Sh. B.S. Ramaswamy on successful completion of the training programme. The programme ended with a vote of thanks by Dr. Sonia Behl, Assistant Director (Academic), NIOS. A positive feedback on the programme was received from most of the participants.

Orientation Programme for Coordinators of Study Centres (for ex-PTTI students)

An Orientation Programme for Coordinators of Study Centres (for ex-PTTI Students) of NIOS was held on 11 July 2011 at the West Bengal Board of Primary Education (WBBPE), Salt Lake, Kolkata. Coordinators from 26 Study Centres participated in the programme.

Orientation in Progress

The objective of the orientation programme was to highlight the role and functions of the study centres, coordinators and other functionaries of study centres.

In the inaugural session, Sh. Aditi Ranjan Rout, Regional Director, NIOS Regional Centre, Kolkata welcomed the coordinators and discussed about the role, functions, objectives and special features of NIOS. The inaugural session was also attended by the Secretary, WBBPE. Addressing the participants, the Secretary, WBBPE, Sri D. Mandal highlighted the problems of ex-PTTI students and requested the coordinators to extend cooperation to NIOS by fully utilizing the NIOS Self Learning Material (SLM) and promptly conducting Personal Contact Programmes (PCPs).

Details about the academic and examination related functions of study centres, procedure for change of subjects and additional subjects, Transfer of Credit, Issue of duplicate Identity cards, change of coordinators, norms for payment, engagement of staff for PCPs, preparation of sign board and its design and display notice board etc. were also discussed.

Tutor Training Workshop

A policy decision taken by the NIOS to proceed the curricular way to reach out to the target learners for Adolescence Education Programme (AEP) necessitated the sensitization of tutors to use the Self Learning Material (SLM) effectively and efficiently. A three day residential workshop was conducted from 18th – 20th June 2011 at +2 M.L. Academy, Laheria Sarai, Darbhanga, Bihar by the Project Co-ordinator along with two Master Trainers along with Project Co-ordinators (AEP) for 28 tutors in Languages, Science, Social Science and Home Science, drawn from 15 study centers of the region.

The programme was inaugurated by Dr. M.J. Warsi, Prof of Linguistics, St. Louise, Washington University, USA.

Imparting Participatory Teaching Learning methods

Participants were introduced to some participatory teaching learning techniques conducted by Ms. Asheema Singh to illustrate methods to arouse curiosity and interest in students in the teaching process. Mock Personal Contact Programme (PCP) sessions were conducted to demonstrate the various challenges that may be faced during a PCP.

Dr. T.N. Giri, Regional Director, NIOS, R.C., Patna outlined the various tools built into the NIOS Life Skills courses that would help the tutors give a better understanding of the course material to the learners and explained how to access the NIOS website with an objective to empower the tutors and learner and alleviating stress amongst the learners.

The residential nature of the workshop not only took the participants away from the workplace but also helped in securing greater concentration from them while working, and allowed them time for practice and internalization of the concepts.

• Internship Programme

For the first time in NIOS, under the Adolescence Education Programme (AEP), four interns were placed at 'MITRA' the Adolescent Friendly Centre (AFC) at Bhubaneswar and NIOS headquarters, NOIDA. The AFC initiated a month long internship programme in June-July 2011. While three students completed their Internship Programme at MITRA, the fourth worked on the feedback analysis of the various capacity building workshops conducted by the AEP Unit at NIOS headquarters.

• Field Testing of MITRA

As part of the activities of the Adolescence Education Programme, the MITRA Activity Manual adapted from NCERT Manual was field tested at the Adolescent Friendly Centre, Bhubaneswar. The manual designed by a group of experts at NCERT to instil various life skills among the adolescents covers vital aspects such as Choosing the Right Career, Role of Communication in Developing Relationship, Personality and Relationship Development, Gender Discrimination, Understanding Adolescence, Substance and Drug Abuse, Coping with Stress and HIV/AIDS.

The activity included eight different workshops at Bhubaneswar, Paradeep, Berhampur and Puri, during which a total of 212 hours and 10 minutes sessions were conducted involving 212 learners. The purpose of the Field Testing was to elicit learners' response on various chapters keeping in focus the content and context and modifying the manual in the light of their feedback for adaptability in the region.

Orientation of Course Writers

A three day workshop for Orientation of Course Writers for Diploma in Elementary Education Programme was held at the Homi Bhabha Centre for Science Education, Mumbai from 29-31st July 2011.
