

National Institute of Open Schooling
Secondary Course – Social Science (213)
Lesson 14- Population: Our Greatest Resource
Worksheet-14

1. How population of a country can be their resource? Explain.
2. On the basis of the map given describe the regional variation in the distribution of population.

3. As per Census of India, estimated population of India is 1,33,97,41,000. Total area of India is 32,87,263 Sq. Kilometer. Calculate the density of India. Also make a list of states with density of population between 101-250.
4. Describe the effect of physical features on density and distribution of population.
5. Analyse the population change in India between 1901-2001. Highlights the factors responsible for population change.
6. Describe the age composition of India.
7. Define sex-ratio. Why sex-ratio should be favourable?
8. Why India is called as land of villages?
9. What measures would you suggest to turn our population as a resource?
10. Explain the objectives of National Population Policy (NPP) 2000.