

National Institute of Open Schooling
Senior Secondary Course: Mass Communication(335)
Lesson 15 :Television Channels
Worksheet-15

1. Classify the programs in a television channel. Prepare a table arranging the classified channels on the basis of their usefulness.
2. Display informational television programs through a list. Classify and write which social information is given priority in programmes.
3. Make a comparative study of fiction (fiction) and non-fiction programmes.
4. Watch any one program being broadcasted in relation to talks and discussions and write five characteristics of talks and discussions on the basis of your experience.
5. Which is your favorite television program and favorite television channel and why? Answer in 100 words.
6. Give examples of informational programs that make you think it is necessary to watch them.
7. Watch your favorite reality shows, listen to the dialogues spoken by the characters and write them.
8. Watch any one culture and gender studies programme on television. Classify the information transmitted on it from highest to lowest with the help of a diagram.
9. Identify the five effects of social and development programs on television in your life and share this experience with your family.
10. Watch comedy shows and chat shows. Make a comparative study of both.